

THE WARNER TREE

He shook her out of sleep, as if they were in one of those old Disneyland commercials about the kids and the dad who can't sleep because they're going to Disneyland.

--Sorry I couldn't sleep and I'm afraid to drive can you take me to the dentist?

She loved him enough to at least respond;

--Were you checking the lock on the front door every two minutes again?

No! He wasn't after all! At long last! In fact,

--No I was writing all night can you believe it?

Story by Mohammad Shehata. mohammadshehata.com